However, customer experience and coverage is subject to many different variables including the physical layout of your residential space, number of wireless devices deployed, interference from other wireless equipment and many other factors of which we have absolutely no control. We therefore do not guarantee the speed or coverage on any wireless equipment deployed and SADV services official test point will always remain on the fixed network point provided on the ONT, of which service quality and consistency can be tested remotely. Any callouts requested where SADV services are confirmed to be working as specified, will be subject to a standard SADV callout fee to be invoiced to the customer, as specified in our published pricing found on the SADV website.

Speed is dependent on a number of individual and variable factors including, but not limited to, the number of users you allow to access your service, the physical layout of your residential space, how and with what device speeds may be tested and which local and international sites you are testing to. Our advertised upload and download speeds provide an indication of local access speeds only and is also subject to natural contention on the passive optical networking (PON) technology we deploy in our network. Speed should always be measured on a fixed line device and not on a wireless or mobile device as this does not provide an accurate indication.

comply with these rules will result in the customers' service being restricted, suspended or terminated, at SADV's reasonable discretion.
